About the organizing association

The AISSEC (Italian Association for the Study of Comparative Economic Systems) is an academic association devoted to the analysis of comparative economic systems, economic development, and structural transformations in the global economy. The association promotes interdisciplinary debates on topics such as inequality, innovation, globalization, institutions, labor markets, and geopolitical fragmentation. Its activities develop comparative and empirical approaches to contemporary economic challenges, encouraging dialogue between academia and policy-oriented research communities.

About the organizing department

The Department of Economics and Social Sciences promotes advanced research with higher education by putting strong emphasis on quantitative methods, innovation, and international collaboration. The department offers undergraduate, master's, and doctoral programs designed to prepare students for academic, institutional, and professional careers. Its research activities address contemporary economic and social challenges at both national and international levels.
